

PRIVACY POLICY

We, NXTGN Music Technology GmbH (hereinafter "NXTGN"), regard the protection and the confidentiality of your data as very important. We collect and use your personal data in accordance with the relevant provisions of German data protection legislation. In this Privacy Policy, we would like to tell you which personal data we collect and what we use it for.

Below, NXTGN tells you about the type and extent of and the purposes for which personal data are collected and used. You can call up this information on our website anytime.

CONTROLLER

The controller within the meaning of German data protection laws is:

NXTGN Music Technology GmbH
An der Reeperbahn 6
28217 Bremen
Germany

If you have any questions or concerns about data protection, you are welcome to also contact us by email at this address: support@ujam.com

SUBJECT OF DATA PROTECTION

The subject of data protection is personal data. According to Section 3, Subsection 1 of the German Federal Data Protection Act ("Bundesdatenschutzgesetz"), these are individual details on personal or objective circumstances of a certain person or certain persons. These include details such as your name, your postal address, your email address, your telephone number or, where appropriate, even use-data.

COLLECTION AND USE OF DATA

Automated Data Collection

When you access NXTGN websites, your internet browser automatically transmits data for technical reasons. The following data are stored:

- your public IP address
- your date and time of access,
- your browser-type and version,
- the operating system you use,

- the URL of the web page that you have previously visited,
- the quantity of data transmitted.

For technical reasons these data are stored and are not assigned to any identifiable person at any time.

Data Entered by Users and other data submitted when purchasing our products

You can download and use our products for the purpose of evaluation after registering with your email address. During the registration process, you may opt in on receiving our email newsletter. For more information see the “Newsletter” section.

If you decide to buy one of our products, you can unlock the trial version after purchasing a license key on our website. In the purchase process, you will create a permanent user account on our website by entering your email address, a user-defined password, and personal information required to complete the purchase (your full name, billing address, and phone number). The account email address and password will be used by our products to unlock the trial limitations once you have successfully purchased a license.

During activation of trial versions and authorizing of full licenses as well as upon installation of updates, a time-stamped digital fingerprint of your hardware configuration (MAC addresses, processor ID, hard disk IDs, hashed machine name, amount of RAM installed) will be taken and stored in NXTGNs registration database. The purpose of fingerprint and time stamp is to protect our products against piracy and to prevent illegal duplication of our products.

Transfer of Data

We will not transfer your data to third parties as a matter of course without letting you know in advance or asking for your prior permission. We may only transfer your data to third parties without informing you separately beforehand in the following exceptional cases as explained below:

If required for investigating the illegal use of our products and services or for legal proceedings, personal data will be transferred to the criminal investigation authorities and, if appropriate, to injured third parties. We will only do this if there are concrete indications of illegal and/or abusive behaviour. We can only transfer on your personal data if this is used to enforce General Terms and Conditions of Business or other agreements. We are also legally obliged to give certain public authorities information. These are criminal investigation authorities, public authorities which prosecute administrative offences entailing fines and the German finance authorities.

Occasionally we depend on contractually affiliated external companies and external service providers to supply services such as the supply of advertising measures (only if you have given your explicit prior consent), processing payments (PayPal, credit card etc.), storing your data and customer service. In such cases, information is transferred to these companies or individuals in order to enable them to process this information further. We carefully select these external service providers and review them regularly to ensure that your privacy is preserved. The service providers may only use the data for the purposes stipulated by us. We also contractually require the service providers to treat your data solely in accordance with this Privacy Policy and the German data protection laws.

In order to further develop our business, we may alter the corporate structure of NXTGN Music Technology GmbH by changing its legal form. We may also form, sell or buy subsidiaries, divisions or parts of the company. In such transactions, customer information together with the part of the company to be transferred will be passed on. Every time personal data are transferred to third parties to the extent prescribed, NXTGN will ensure that this is done in accordance with this Privacy Policy and the relevant data protection laws.
